

Partial Translation of
"Seni Kogaku II"
(Fiber engineering II)

Page 38, line 2 from the bottom, to page 39, line 2

(2) Chain stitch machine

Fig. 2-21(a) shows stitches made by a single chain stitch sewing machine, which stitches in the form a chain by using a single thread for suturing. The stitch has a stretchability but is likely to unravel, and thus it is not used for sewing principal parts. This stitch is used for temporary sewing, basting, name tag sewing, etc.

"Seni Kogaku (II) Henso" (Fiber engineering)

Author (copyright owner): Tatsuo ADACHI

Publisher: Jikkyo Shuppan Co., Ltd.

Printer: Dainippon Hourei Printing Inc.